Enquiry Description:

Dear Valeriia Leonte
Policy Advisor -NHVR

Viterra operates a storage and handling network spanning key growing regions in South Australia and western Victoria with a total storage capacity of over 10 million tonnes. We manage upcountry sites and strategically located port terminals to provide an efficient, cost effective and reliable supply chain to meet the requirements of our grower, domestic user and export customers.

We provide a range of services including storage and warehousing, receival and elevation, quality assessment, logistics and accumulation, quality control and food safety, electronic transactional services, container packing and bulk ship loading.

Viterra is part of Glencore Agriculture, a global leader in originating, handling, processing and marketing agricultural commodities including grain, oilseeds, pulses, sugar, rice, cotton, vegetable oils, protein meals and biodiesel. Glencore Agriculture's operations and marketing offices span more than 35 countries worldwide.

Viterra support and welcome the National Heavy Vehicle Regulator call for submissions regarding Grain Harvest Management Schemes across Australia. Viterra seek to call for a standardised national scheme which delivers the following outcomes.

- * Road safety for all users
- * Protection for the road infrastructure
- * Productivity focus for grain movements ex-paddock during the harvest period
- * Ensuring regulation drives safety, productivity, consistency and equality for all supply-chain participants. The scheme should not result in a commercial disadvantage, rather be structured to reward industry participants seeking to work with the regulator.

As such, Viterra support and endorse the comprehensive submission of Grain Transport Safety Network (GTSN).

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or queries.
